33RD YEAR—NO. 29.

Pat Harrison's Keynote Address to Convention

Senior Senator from Mississippi in Blazing Way for Party Scored Republicans for Failure to Keep Faith With the American People--Urges Democrats to Unite and Grasp Victory Within Their Reach.

America needs a Paul Revere, "not a sphinx," in the White House, to call it back to duty and high resolve, declared Wednesday in sounding the keynote at the Democratic National Convention.

In an address condemning the Republican administration—its policies, both domestic and foreign—the temporary chairman called on Democrats everywhere, "with victory within their grasp," to unite against a common enemy.

"Oh for one in the White House," he said, "who has the heart, the courage and the courage aroused to sympathize and fight. Would that we once more might see in that exalted position one with the courage of Jackson, the militant honesty of a Cleveland, the matchless statesmanship of a Woodrow Wilson."

Senator Harrison ran the gamut of the Harding-Coolidge administration in a series of biting criticisms. A large part of his speech was taken up with a resume of the disclosures of Senate investigating committees. The oil policies, in particular, came in for vigorous denunciation.

"Show this administration an oil well," he said, "and it will show you a foreign policy."

"America has taken the measure of this administration," he continued. It might have sought markets and removed the tariff barriers in the channels through which our surplus products move. It might have visualized world conditions and courageously assumed the part befitting a great nation. It might have reduced living costs, redeemed pledges to the soldier, followed a definite foreign policy, and adopted a broad and statesmanlike foreign policy, but even then it would have availed it nothing with its carnival of corruption.

"The least that the American people expect of their public servants is common honesty. They will forgive their passivity, overlook their indiscretions, and, too often, forget their impotency, but to them corruption is inexcusable, graft is indefensible."

Referring to Senate inquiries, Senator Harrison was unsparring in his criticisms of the former Secretary of War and the former Attorney General. He paid high tribute to Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, prosecutor of the oil inquiry, and others connected with the various investigations.

"Decry them as they will, the American people know that it was these investigations—conducted by Democrats, but through Republican committees—that put Albert B. Felt, the Three Rivers, and the others in the White House. It was these investigations that compelled Edwin Denby's retirement from the cabinet. It was these investigations that drove Daugherty back to Washington Court House. It was these investigations that caused conspirators and traitors to flee the country. It was these investigations that pointed to the immoral orgy of Forbes and sickening scandals in the Veterans' Bureau. It was these investigations that put a Republican Congress in the White House. It was these investigations that informed the American public that the first official act of Calvin Coolidge was the appointment of a private secretary who had traded and trafficked in public patronage. It was these investigations that led to the impeachment of a Democratic senator because he dared to do the right."

Comparing the investigations into Democratic and Republican administrations, he said it was "not graft alone that offers in the two administrations such happy comparisons."

"During these little more than three years," he said, "we have seen the present administration float along, tossed by the breeze, without purpose, program or policy. Upon a thousand issues they have hoisted the white flag of surrender."

Senator Harrison declared that nothing in "barbarous or brazen boouff" was comparable to the "scene recently enacted at Cleveland in the efforts of the Silent Sphinx of the Potomac to exile and expatriate those Republican senators who dared to oppose his mandate."

"They dared to vote an investigation of the President's family and they are penalized for their decency," he said.

"By every device known to trained camoufleurs, by every subtle process of legerdemain the Republican nominee, in true pharisaical fashion, sought to divorce himself from his former comrades in arms. The plan was obvious: the plot is futile. Neither the President nor his flagstaffian army, headed by General Butler and Sergeant Stearns, can conceal the ugly fact that the Cleveland convention was the most highly organized, boss-ridden and disingenuous ever held in American history. The American people will not be deceived."

"The American people will know that they are dealing with a system; that even though Hanna, Quay and Fenrose are dead, their spirits go marching on in the personages of the

COUNTY AGENT IS CURBING ANTHRAX

S. F. O'Neal Active in Cause Control of Anthrax Outbreak in Hancock. Pearlinton, Lakeshore, Ansley and Vicinity Affected.

Under the special heading of "To Consumers of Milk," County Agent S. F. O'Neal, on the occasion of the outbreak of anthrax in certain parts of Hancock county, has issued the following paragraph as part of a special circular letter:

"There seems to be considerable anxiety on the part of persons who buy milk from local dairymen, as to the danger of contracting the disease from milk purchased. While it is possible to contract anthrax by drinking milk from infected cows, I think that in the present case no one should be so remote as to be almost an impossibility."

In view of the fact that several families have left Waveland in view of reports of anthrax in that vicinity, fearing to purchase milk because of the possibility of contracting the disease, the foregoing ought to put others remaining at ease. Mr. O'Neal, an authority, says, to repeat his own words, "The chances of obtaining infected milk is so remote as to be almost an impossibility."

Anthrax affects all domestic animals (even man in rare cases), but is especially prevalent in cattle and horses. Deaths from anthrax have been reported from Logtown, Pearlinton, Ansley, Lakeshore, Clement Harbor and Waveland, and the death rate seems to be increasing.

There is no treatment for anthrax after the animal has contracted the disease, but it can be prevented by vaccinating all well animals. This vaccination is not dangerous to the animal treated and the only precaution necessary is that in the case of milk cows the milk should not be used for about 24 hours after treatment. There is no danger of spreading the disease by using milk from vaccinated cows.

The vaccine for anthrax should cost from 30 to 35 cents per dose, and when administered by a veterinarian his fee will be in addition to this cost. All stock owners (cattle or horses) in or near the infected territory should immediately arrange to have their stock vaccinated, either by a veterinarian or some other qualified person, says County Agent O'Neal, in concluding his letter of instruction to the public of the county.

ESTIMABLE WOMAN GOES TO HER REWARD

Mother of Mrs. W. S. Campbell, at Home of Daughter, in 84th Year. Interment at Natchez, Miss.

Suffering from a malady of the heart, aggravated by a paralytic condition, God called home Monday morning one of nature's best and sweetest women, Mrs. Modesta Rose-Pickens, widow of Rev. Samuel M. Wiggins. For several days she was evident. A saintly woman, one who had lived a long and useful life, possessed of ennobling virtues and whose influence was far-reaching and serving for all that was good, she passed away peacefully and as beautifully as she had lived. With calm resignation and strengthened with the love for her Maker, her soul crossed the border line, in her 84th year.

Mrs. Wiggins was a native of Natchez, Miss. To her native land the remains were taken Tuesday morning, accompanied by her son-in-law, W. S. Campbell. The funeral ceremony here was conducted by Rev. Dr. H. Perry, pastor of Christ Episcopal Church, Front street and Carroll avenue.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Campbell, an only child, with whom she lived and passed the golden years of her life in the security of her loved ones, daughter and son-in-law.

Mrs. Campbell is well known in New Orleans, her former home, and in Bay St. Louis, and the sympathy and affection of those who know her are with her in this time when the shadows are deepest.

HENRY LADNER DIES AT WAVE-LAND.

The funeral of Henry Ladner, well known resident of Waveland, took place Thursday, having died the day previous.

Mr. Ladner was the victim of an acute and incurable malady of the heart, and suffered for years to the extent that he was unable to work actively. He is survived by a wife and three or four children, all unable to go forth into the world and meet the daily struggle.

He deceased was possibly well known in Bay St. Louis, through the streets of which city he frequently peddled wood cut to stove length. A daughter usually accompanied him to unload the wood whenever a sale was made, his condition permitting of no exertion. He was a native of this county, in the Waveland vicinity, and was in his late thirties.

—Mr. Milton Sylvester left Bay St. Louis this week for a visit to relatives and friends in Los Angeles, Cal. On his journey he will visit at Houston, San Antonio and El Paso and other points en route. Residing at the home of Mrs. A. T. Price, at 915 Opelousas avenue, Algiers, a farewell reception was tendered him a few evenings since.

HEALTH CONFERENCE FOR HANCOCK CO.

Child Health Conference To Be Held in Hancock Next Month—Will Continue Three Days and Held at Each of the Three Principal Points.

How many parents in Bay St. Louis and the balance of Hancock county can say, "My child is entitled to a health visit from the State Board of Health?"

A Child Health Conference for Hancock county will be held in Logtown, Kiln and Bay St. Louis on July 21-23, inclusive, from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily. It will be conducted under the State health authorities, and will be conducted locally under the auspices of Dr. J. A. Mead, of Logtown, county health officer, and Miss Nancy B. Short, county health officer.

We, as the nation and State, have given considerable attention to the health and further and better propagation of swine, the horse, the cow and other live stock. Heretofore what have we attempted for the human being? Until recent years practically nothing. But another day has dawned. One human life is priceless.

The purpose of this Child Health Conference is to ascertain the development of the child as compared to the normal standard, to instruct the parents relative to health habits in order to prevent defects and to discover defects at an early age, that they may be easily remedied by proper hygiene or medical care. This conference is a demonstration held by the local physicians, dentists, parents and other interests to determine physical conditions of the babies and pre-school children.

It includes a careful examination of the children and if defects are found the parents are advised to take the child to their family physician or to a specialist. It is not intended for sick children, but for the great number of children who, though apparently well, are rarely free from physical defects. Primarily the purpose of this conference is for the sake of the child, but it is a practical demonstration to the community of the value of a periodical examination; it stresses personal hygiene and other preventive measures in order that babies and pre-school children may be kept well and may be ready to enter school without physical defects.

A child health conference should develop into a permanent work. Demonstrations of this kind should lead to the establishment of a child health center where children may be brought for examination at regular intervals.

Floral offerings were both numerous and handsome. Deernought Post No. 107 (All Navy), New Orleans; Clement R. Bontemps Legion Post, and Washington Artillery, of New Orleans, paid their respects to the memory of the deceased with beautiful designs. In addition there were others, from private sources and individual friends and acquaintances of the family. It was a tribute worthy of the memory of one who had died for his country.

BAY ST. LOUISIANS ATTEND MACCABEE INITIATION AT GULFPORT.

Quite a delegation of Bay St. Louis Maccabees attended the initiation of a class of candidates at Gulfport on Wednesday night. The party left here in a body on one of the late afternoon trains for the Gulf City and returned at 1 o'clock the next morning. They motored to Henderson's Point and were conveyed across the bay in a gasoline craft.

They report the Gulfport affair quite a success and are loud in their praise of the manner in which they were received and entertained, dwelling with emphasis on the beautiful and delightful spread of good things after the ceremony came to an end. The number representing the Bay City at the Gulf City were Messrs. Thomas Machado, Fred Fayard, Joe Scalfie, Sr., John Dambrino, Arthur Loicapo, Joseph Scalfie, Jr., Thomas Luc, Joseph Favre, John Kackler, Oswald Carver, August Taconi, Jr., Julius Schwab, Jr., Lucien Favre.

HOME TO REST IN NATIVE SOIL

The return home Monday night of Clarence Thomas Bourgeois to the parental roof in Waveland was not that return that had been justly hoped for when the dashing and exuberant youth of twenty-one summers left the happy native hearthside during the early part of last March, when he was home for a brief visit, to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Bourgeois, and his brothers and sisters.

Monday night's return home was far from that which had been anticipated. Young Bourgeois had died in the service of his country. He was a first-class seaman on board the U. S. S. "Mississippi," when forty odd men met death in an explosion on board. His body arrived Monday night from Los Angeles, Cal., on the Southern Pacific train reaching New Orleans at that time, after a four-day journey across the distance separating the Pacific from the shores of the Gulf of Mexico.

At New Orleans the body was received by a brother and other relatives and many friends of the family. The deceased had been a member of the Washington Artillery, while residing in New Orleans, and representatives of several members officially met the body and placed a large American flag over the container carrying the casket.

Reaching Bay St. Louis many met the body and the overland journey to Waveland, to the shadowed home, was taken up. The casket, too, was wrapped in another American flag, which came with it from its place of tragedy. A wealth of flowers accompanied the remains, from California and then again from New Orleans to Bay St. Louis.

The funeral took place Tuesday morning from the residence of the parents. The casket was not open to the public. It was borne from the house through the Thiel property to St. Clare's Chapel, where a requiem mass was said. Members of the Clement R. Bontemps Legion Post, of Hancock county, served as pallbearers. Rev. Father Costello conducted the last obsequies. The remains were taken to St. Mary's Cemetery, where all that was mortal of this youth were tenderly consigned to the keeping of the bosom of Mother Earth. His journey had ended and the journey to the grave was at end, home again in order to rest in the sacred keeping of native soil. The funeral was one of the largest seen in this county, and it well attested the sympathy felt for the bereaved parents and to the esteem in which this sterling youth was held.

Floral offerings were both numerous and handsome. Deernought Post No. 107 (All Navy), New Orleans; Clement R. Bontemps Legion Post, and Washington Artillery, of New Orleans, paid their respects to the memory of the deceased with beautiful designs. In addition there were others, from private sources and individual friends and acquaintances of the family. It was a tribute worthy of the memory of one who had died for his country.

Clarence Thomas Bourgeois was a son of Mary Agnes Coffee and Louis S. Bourgeois, a native of Waveland, and one of eight children; aged 21 years; fifth son born to the family. Sympathy of the community goes to the bereaved family, and the heart bowed in sorrow. Though blinded by the tears that well from the deepest depths, they look up and say, "O Lord, Thy will be done."

—A. Letten and L. F. Kretz, well-known and successful painters, are progressing with splendid results on their contract in St. Charles street for Mr. Leonard Franz, one of the Bay City's best and most progressive citizens.

NAPOLÉON SCENE BAPTIST S. S. C.

Baptists of Hancock County Will Hold Sunday School Convention Tomorrow—Ten Churches Expected To Be Represented.

Napoleon, over in the Pearl River section of Hancock county, will be the scene of a Baptist Sunday School convention at Napoleon Church tomorrow, Sunday, June 29th. The program will begin at 9:30 in the morning and close about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Interesting readings, special music and several addresses will feature the day. The ten Baptist churches in the county are expected to have good representation at this meeting.

The Baptist encampment, which was to have been staged at Bay St. Louis, July 14-18, has been cancelled in the interest of the Baptist assembly at Gulfport, which begins August 1st and continues for ten days. This Gulfport meeting will bring some five or six hundred Baptists from up the country, and some of the greatest speakers in the denomination will be on the program.

Beginning the first Sunday night in July, the Sunday school work of the Baptist church will be at 10 o'clock in the morning, as before, but there will be no morning preaching services during the summer months. There will be, however, a general church service staged at the church house, or out somewhere in the open, every Sunday night during the heated season. Special music will feature in these Sunday night services and everybody is cordially invited to attend, says the pastor, Rev. B. F. Whitten.

HON. FRED W. SMITH, POPLARVILLE, PEARL RIVER COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI.

Announces Candidacy For Re-Election to the Office of State Highway Commissioner From the Sixth Congressional District, of Mississippi.

Hon. Fred W. Smith, of Poplarville, Pearl River County, Mississippi, has been highway commissioner since 1920. He represents the largest district in Mississippi. With the seven counties in this district, sparsely settled, he has labored incessantly and unselfishly to establish a network of highways, a network that will cover his district like a blanket.

"Fred," as he is familiarly called by his friends, is a veritable living dynamo. He is thirty-six years old, and one of the most indefatigable workers in the whole country. He has unlimited faith in the great possibilities of the piney woods section and has caught the vision of what the Gulf Coast will be to the South in the years to come.

Mr. Smith has been a very successful business man, and in energy, enthusiasm and keen business judgment he has few equals in his country today. Having been born and reared in the heart of the district, he understands our people and appreciates their need, and with an abiding faith in the future, he is never discouraged by the many and great difficulties of the present. He understands the peculiar needs of every section of the district and is in deep sympathy with the hopes and aspirations of forward looking men and women.

His success in promoting the building of good roads has been so phenomenal that it is freely predicted that no one will offer opposition to his re-election. We are just now in the midst of a great road building campaign, and the district would suffer an incalculable loss to substitute a new man, who would have to be trained and ready and understand the business before he would be ready to go ahead with the work.

Fred Smith is a practical business man. He loses no time with the unessential things, but goes straight to the point and strives to reach the goal. In the discharge of his duties he has made a few enemies, but this may be his greatest credit. He doesn't stand for any "monkey business." His dream and ambition is to give to his district the best road system in the State, and for this reason he may be, at times, impatient with anyone who dares to obstruct the onward march of this great work.

Mr. Smith understands the people and knows how to treat them, and is always kind and courteous. We do not believe that the people of the district could find a man that would, as unselfishly, devote his time, talent and ability to this great cause. The work of a highway commissioner is almost a work of love. It is patriotic, and not only a man with profound sympathies and broad visions should hold this office, but only a man with love and devotion to the success and happiness of the people of his State and his county can make an ideal commissioner.

Fred Smith has been and will be a success. He is an enthusiast. He is a "doer." Others may ask, "Can we do it?" Fred says, "Let's do it."

CO. SHORT COURSE FOR GIRLS CLOSES

Three-Day Short Course For Hancock Club Girls Rich in Labor and Result—Miss O'Dom, County Demonstration Agent, Scores Success.

Hancock county girls' short course, conducted by Miss Mayme J. O'Dom, home demonstration agent for this county, broke camp Thursday evening. The girls came together from all parts of Hancock Monday afternoon and spent three full and very profitable days. The work, varied and practical, occupied a session rich in labor and result. Miss O'Dom had planned well and thoughtfully and the result proved the effort well worthy, and a contribution to the future and constructive forces of Hancock county in economic practices and forces.

The girls were divided, for instructional purposes, into four groups: canning, clothing, poultry and cooking. The girls met on the last subject for one hour during each of the three days. The canning class was under the direction of Miss Polk, home demonstration agent of Harrison county, assisted by Miss O'Dom. The cooking was conducted by Miss Anderson, of Gulfport College, and Miss Felth of Chicago, representing the Calumet Baking Powder Company. The class in clothing was conducted by Miss Mary Bourgeois and Miss Jordan, art specialist of the extension department of A. and M. College. The poultry instruction was given by Prof. J. K. Watkins, principal of Kiln Consolidated School.

Besides the regular class work running through the three days, the girls came together for general assembly each day from 10:30 to 11:30, and this hour was filled with good speeches by Hon. L. W. Walker, Mr. E. Kellar, Mr. Geo. R. Rea and others. Then the evenings were filled with recreation, games and swimming under the direction of Miss Margaret Boardman, of Pearlinton.

The entire program was well interspersed with special entertainments. One by Miss Russell, of the Southern Cotton Oil Company, of Memphis, who very ably demonstrated mayonnaise dressing and the distinguishing differences between the vegetable oils and animal fats. Mr. Schoenmaker gave an interesting discussion on interior decoration and painting, color schemes for rooms.

Through the courtesy of the Sisters of St. Joseph the academy and convent premises were placed at the free disposal of Miss O'Dom and her summer normal, a considerable part of the cause of education and public as well as community spirit of no mean proportion.

On Monday night, prior to the opening morning, the young ladies assembled were entertained by a "beach party" on the grounds in front of the school grounds. It was a novelty for many of the young ladies from the interior, and to others as well, and unnecessary to say to what extent it was enjoyed. The refreshments for the event were contributed to Miss O'Dom by residents of the city.

Mrs. E. J. Debus was chairman of the refreshment committee and through her indefatigable effort and enterprising spirit splendid co-operation was received in the way of donations and other contributions. Mrs. E. S. Drake, also a member of the entertainment committee, worked without stint and to a degree of marked success. She was assisted by Miss Anna Lou Whitten and Miss Elsie Day.

A feature of the social part of the course was the automobile trips given the visiting instructors by the Misses Lorch, who were active in the interest of the success of the affair.

Dr. J. A. Mead and Miss Short, county health nurse, were in charge of the physical examinations. In order to avoid a tie, two prizes were awarded in the physical examination test, Miss Hazel Kergusien and Miss Regina Blaise winners. Both young ladies were pronounced 100 per cent. The examination included teeth and tonsils.

On Wednesday night a theatre party to the A. and G. Theatre served as the social number for the second evening. This party was given complimentary by the management of the A. and G. Theatre, Mrs. Gaspard and Misses Ames.

Thursday night brought the course to a close with an entertainment termed "stunt night," when the young ladies comprising St. Joseph Academy Club carried off the prize. Their stunts were impersonations and character interpretations of "The Songs We Sing," including, as a matter of course, "Yes, We Have No Bananas Today" and "Barney Google."

In all the three-day or short course was a success more than in the ordinary sense, and a sense of gratification prevails and a source of satisfaction to all concerned. Miss O'Dom is appreciative and thankful for the co-operation and material assistance which contributed to the success of the affair.

THE EXCESSIVE HOT WEATHER DRIVES MANY VISITORS.

Extreme hot weather prevailing over the extreme southern territory has driven many visitors out from New Orleans to the Mississippi Gulf Coast, where Gulf breezes blow and the water is invitingly fine! There is a regular exodus out of New Orleans, and Bay St. Louis is getting its share of the many seeking cooler clime.

Bay St. Louis is extremely popular with Oleanians, who never lose an opportunity to visit and linger in the Bay City.

—Mr. Emile J. Toca left for New Orleans Monday morning, in which city he has taken a splendid position, and will make week-end visits home.

VERDICT OF $10,000 GIVEN THOS. RICHTON

Jury of Federal Court at Biloxi Awards Bay St. Louis Man Verdict—Was Suing For $30,000 For Injuries in Railroad Accident.

For alleged injuries received by plaintiff in a railroad collision with horse and buggy, Thos. Richton, of Bay St. Louis, suing the Louisville and Nashville Railroad for $30,000, was given an award of $10,000 by a jury in the United States District Court, at Biloxi, this week. The plaintiff was represented by Gex & Waller, attorneys of this city.

It will be remembered some time ago that Thos. Richton, father-in-law of Dr. Wm. Cain, residing on the Bay-Kiln road, had been to the city and about noon was returning to his home in the suburbs. It was while crossing the railroad tracks of the L. and N., south of the coal shutes, a freight train, in-bound from New Orleans, struck his buggy and threw him with such force as to incapacitate him permanently, according to the bill of allegation. He was picked up in a serious condition, his arm and ribs broken and for while it was thought he would not survive. He had been laid up ever since.

At this writing no motion for appeal by the railroad company's attorneys had been made.

Liquor cases disposed of by Judge Holmes Wednesday follow: United States vs. John Monroe, violation national prohibition act, fined $50; Leopold Demeyer, same, $25; Chas. Manzeq, same, $25; Ed Patnote, same, $50; John Shrimetta, same, $75; Pierce and Tennie Penton, same, $50; Pierce Penton, $25; Tennie Penton, $50. The cases of the same charges against Peter Shrimetta, Will Houston and Cora Streight were dismissed.

In the case of E. H. Boevig vs. the Jordan River Lumber Company, dismissal was entered, with the libel assigned all costs.

In the case of T. M. Favre vs. St. Louis this week for a visit to relatives and friends in Los Angeles, Cal. On his journey he will visit at Houston, San Antonio and El Paso and other points en route. Residing at the home of Mrs. A. T. Price, at 915 Opelousas avenue, Algiers, a farewell reception was tendered him a few evenings since.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

While to most of us it seems but a few brief weeks since we were welcoming Santa Claus to our midst, time has passed with swiftly-moving tread, and here we are back to another celebration of the glorious Fourth. It's the one national holiday of the year that we feel like using that word "glorious," though many possibly put a wrong interpretation on the word. We prefer to use it in the sense that it is a glorious feeling to live in a land that is not beset with anarchy and intrigues and deep-laid military plots; a land wherein every man is his own monarch, ruler over his own destiny, free to worship as his conscience dictates, free to vote as his opinion guides him and to have a voice in the making of those laws which govern him.

It's a glorious feeling to look back on the rapid rise of the star-spangled banner to the highest place in the esteem of nations; to know that although we are the youngest in years we are the oldest in actual progress and advancement and in helpfulness to mankind. It is glorious to know that our flag flies over a land which has given to the world its greatest inventions—the steamboat, the locomotive, the airplane, the telephone, the automobile. How can one keep from feeling that it is a glorious nation when he reflects upon all it has done to set warning nations an example of peace, and yet to demonstrate that if war must come we are amply able to take care of ourselves?

Our people will celebrate the Glorious Fourth each in his own way and as suits his ideas of patriotism. But in whatever form his celebration may be, he should set aside at least a few minutes for reflection, a few minutes to reviewing his nation's wonderful past and her brilliant future. He should be thankful deep down in his heart that he is living beneath the Stars and Stripes, a flag that floats over a land unequalled by any other on God's footstool.

A WARNING TO THOSE IN LINE FOR BONUS.

Now that the soldiers' bonus is a fact, the ex-service men who are intended to benefit by it will have to be constantly on their guard against the thousands of schemers and grafters of all sorts who will devise numerous tricks for getting hold of their money. They will be tempted to mortgage their insurance and "invest" the money in this and that scheme, and the result in a great many cases will be that they will wake up some morning and find that they have nothing whatever coming to them. Service men were talked to seem to realize that the real cash value of the bonus is small enough at best, so we sincerely hope that every one of them will make up his mind to resist every effort which others may make to induce him to sign away his bonus and sell his birthright for a mess of porridge. Don't do anything hastily or without the advice of those you can rely on; there is plenty of time to decide what you will do with your money. Remember that the schemers over the country are already at work and that they are counting on rich pickings from the bonus for a good many years to come.

MORE MILK FOR BETTER HEALTH.

Evidently the American people are drinking something besides tea, coffee, soda water and home brew. The Department of Agriculture finds that they consumed last year 212 quarts of milk apiece. That did not all "go down the red lane" in liquid form, but a very large amount of it did—billions of gallons in all. Milk consumption increases steadily, year after year, especially as a beverage. Here is an indulgence in which there can be no dangerous excess. We never heard of a child drinking more fresh milk than was good for it, and few adults have ever done so. There is not only health in milk, but there is sound economy. It is in thousands of cases a good substitute for meat, and people who find themselves unable to eat meat of any kind can still live and flourish on milk. It can be produced in larger quantities than meat on the same number of acres and, therefore, dairying becomes more and more important as population increases. And when costs are figured in there is no cheaper food in all America.

DEPUTY SHERIFF NICAISE BUSY AT KILN.

Deputy Sheriff Leander Nicaise, of Kiln, is actively on the job all times. The other day he arrested S. Davis, colored man of that vicinity, charged with having liquor in his possession, finding about a gallon of whiskey in pints and half pints.

Davis, who is in the employ of the Hagan turpentine works, was tried before Judge Frutas Fuentes, of Kiln, who found the prisoner guilty and sentenced him to the county jail for 60 days. In addition to the jail sentence he assessed a fine of $150.00.

NO ROOM FOR A SPHINX AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

In sounding the keynote at the Democratic National Convention, in New York Wednesday, Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, said America needs a Paul Revere, "not a Sphinx," in the White House. He said this was necessary in order to call America back to duty and high resolve.

Senator Harrison did not mince his words. His condemnation of the Republican administration was unmistakable and left no room for doubt. "Oh, for one in the White House," he said, "whose heart might be melted and courage aroused to sympathize and fight." He reviewed the scandals of the administration, domestic and foreign, and down the category of crimes of the administration well known to all students of current events and even to the casual reader of the daily press. His criticism of Harding and Coolidge were scathing. Disclosures revealed by the Senate investigating committee in the oil and other administration scandals again brought the scarlet of shame to the country. Oh, for a Paul Revere and not a Sphinx in the White House!

Thus did Senator Harrison in his keynote address exhort the party sponsoring the administration that stands for national reproach today. His discourse crucified the opposing faction in power to a gibbet of infamy, there to remain throughout the campaign from now to November, when the rank and file of the Democratic party and the many who will augment that number at the polls in November. Citizens of America must emancipate themselves and shake the yoke of fraud and tyranny that a sphinx-like head at the White House sits in silence and condones.

Referring to the matchless statesmanship and the fine fighting qualities of Woodrow Wilson, a demonstration in the convention followed and lasted for ten minutes. Though no more in the flesh, the spirit and qualities, the ideals and statesmanship attributes of Wilson live and will play part in the campaign this year.

Of Senator Harrison, Mississippi and the nation are proud of this scholarly and fearless son. He measured well to every expectation. Honored by his party, he was equal to the occasion and his name will remain linked to the great body in session in New York this week, either making or unmaking history, whichever the case may be or destiny may shape.

MANY LAWS, BUT NONE TO COVER THIS.

One of our subscribers, living not far from Bay St. Louis, tells us he has lost about $10 worth of chickens the last three months. They were run down and killed by auto drivers who do not think or do not care how hard it is for a man to make a living these days. Several of this man's neighbors have lost poultry the same way. Anyone who travels by road does not have to be told about this nuisance. Poultry to do well should have range. It is nearly impossible, and would be highly expensive, to fence poultry from the roads. The civilized motorist seldom, or never, kills a chicken. The slayers are the reckless speeders who wizz by and possibly try to see if they can't kill a chicken crossing their path. A State law requiring a driver to stop and pay for any poultry he kills, or be subject to a fine, would fix those fellows, and quite likely the farmers could be trusted to see that the law was enforced.

LEGISLATURE THANKS TELEPHONE OPERATORS.

It is unusual that the law-makers of a State adopt a formal resolution of thanks to the telephone operators who have been serving them during their session. Such a resolution was unanimously adopted by the Senate of Mississippi at the close of their recent session, having been introduced by Senator Brooks. It was as follows:

"Whereas, during this session of the Legislature we have had the services of two young ladies, Miss Mae Latham and Miss Mattie Matthews, who have been in the employ of the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company, and

"Whereas, by their close attention and diligence to their duty in looking after long distance and local calls, it has added much to our convenience;

"Therefore, Be it resolved, That the thanks of the Senate are hereby extended to each of them, and our best wishes go with them."

LIMITING LOADS ON HIGHWAYS.

The Board of Supervisors of Jackson county has passed an order limiting the weight that may be hauled over the highways of that county to 3000 pounds or 700 feet of lumber or timber or 400 feet of logs. The Record does not know whether or not any limit has been placed on loads that may be hauled in this county, but there should be. Before there were any improved highways there was a limit as to the load that could be transported over the roads, and why allow such heavy loads carried now as to destroy the good roads we have and put them back in the condition they were originally, so that damage would necessarily be curtailed, and speed of all vehicles impeded. There is just about as much sense in such a course as to build a railroad of small rails and put such heavy engines on them as to crush them in a few trips.—New York Record.

New Orleans, La., April 29, 1924. Board of Aldermen, City of Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Hon. R. W. Webb, Mayor. Beg to hand herewith result of my audit of the collection ledger of the waterworks. It is understood that the ledger is the only book available to check and my audit covers those accounts as shown therein. So I cannot verify as to the accuracy of the charges, or the condition of the account.

The diagram of the new books are the writer's idea, and I think if they are followed out, it will facilitate the handling of the collections and give you an accurate statement of collection. Also the inspector's report should be completed at once before the new books are opened, because Mr. W. J. Gallup stated to me that he is under the impression that certain houses have more service than they are paying for, and as he did work for the premises, he took their word for it.

Also wish to call your attention to the accounts that are marked closed as shown on pages 10 to 28 inclusive, as the writer cannot determine whether they should pay rent or not. I have signatures of the city treasurer, Mr. Chas. Sanger, and also Mr. W. J. Gallup, so that the report is verified.

Hoping my audit will be self explanatory, I am, Respectfully, F. J. BOPP, Public Accountant and Auditor.

THE SEA COAST ECHO

C. G. Moreau, Editor and Publisher

CITY ECHOES.

Sunburned, Parke Davis' Almond Cream will fix you up. 15c a 50 cent per bottle at the BEACH DRUG STORE.

Mrs. Edith K. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Davis and baby, with Miss Neely Holloman, of Logtown, toured to Ouchatoula, La., and spent several days with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Earl K. Davis and family, formerly of Bay St. Louis.

M. H. Daily, federal prohibition director of Mississippi, while attending federal court at Biloxi this week, spent yesterday in this city, visiting his friend and former pastor, Rev. L. F. Whitten, on the beach front, and Washington street. Mr. Daily's headquarters are at Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Partridge and interesting children left a few nights since for quite an extensive visit East, intending to spend the greater part of the summer in Pennsylvania. They plan to return the latter part of August or the first week in September.

We are closing out a few odds and ends in Talcum Powder at 15 cents per box. Some of them are marked as high as 40 cents, but they all go at 15 cents. Beach Drug Store.

Mr. Leo Fahey, son of Mrs. Lena D. Fahey, who is studying for the priesthood, arrived home last week from near St. Louis, Mo., where he spent the past year, and will remain with his mother and her family until the early fall, when he will resume his studies.

An erroneous impression prevails concerning admission fee to the Hancock County fair, which is being held this evening. The price of admission is Ten Cents. It has been said repeatedly the price is One Dollar. One Dime and nothing more is the price of admission.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Weston, of Logtown, are receiving the congratulations of their friends on the occasion of the arrival of their first-born, which happy event occurred on Monday of last week at the King's Daughters, at Gulfport. Both mother and child have been doing well and are expected to soon travel homeward.

Miss Carmelite Spotorno returned home last evening from Louisiana, where she spent the past season as member of one of the larger schools of music in that state, and will spend the summer with her brother, Mr. N. C. Spotorno, and sisters, Misses Eugenie and Mercedes Spotorno, at the family home on the beach front.

Dr. J. T. Abshire, physician and surgeon at Kaplan, La., is spending a few days in Bay St. Louis, enjoying the Gulf breezes and sea water bathing. Dr. Abshire, who is vice president of the Louisiana State Board of Health, will leave for a few days for Baton Rouge to attend the session of the Legislature, after which he will return for the balance of the summer.

He is an old pupil of St. Stanislaus. Mr. A. J. Letz, who has recently moved into their artistic and attractive bungalow just completed in Main near corner Touline streets, where they will summer and spend part of the winter on periodical visits. Mr. Letz's handsome dwelling is distinctly a contribution to the betterment of the permanent upbuilding of Bay St. Louis. Mr. and Mrs. Letz are "at home" to their friends.

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Muller motored over from New Orleans this week, by way of Baton Rouge and Hammond, La., in their sedan and have opened their summer home for the season. However, they left this morning for a week-end visit to relatives at Ocean Springs. They report their circuitous trip from New Orleans one of both interest and charm, expressing the success of the trip in superlative terms.

The Echo has been requested to announce the Fourth of July celebration, benefit St. Mary's Cemetery, to occur on Dillman's Pavilion, will be made as attractive as possible. A special feature will be the serving of genuine old-fashioned gumbo, from 11 to 2 o'clock. The usual parade will start at 1 o'clock. Public invited to participate. No fee; entrance free. Dancing and jazz band in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. John Weston and their accomplished daughter, Miss Dorothy, a recent graduate from Newcomb College, New Orleans, have leased the Partridge home, on the beach front, for the summer months, and are enjoying the Gulf breezes that wait over the beach front. Mr. Weston, vice president of the H. Weston Lumber Company, at Logtown, will divide his time between the two places.

Numerous and material improvements are in course of completion at the Hancock County Bank. In order to afford better security, the bank's vault has been generally reinforced and a massive time-lock door set in place to take the place of one removed. "The Hancock" is ever in line with the march of improvements and for the safeguard and better serving of its patrons. Its aim is ever to better serve.

Will you be one of the lucky twenty-four? Beginning today (Sunday) at noon, the Beach Drug Store will give away twenty-four DURHAM DUPLEX SAFETY RAZORS. Each customer who purchases a package of Razor Blades of that make at fifty cents (the regular retail price) will be presented with a Razor White Ivory Box absolutely free. Remember there will be just twenty-four, so get yours early. See our Durham Duplex Show Window.

Attention is called to the new advertisement of the Coast Serve Self Store No. 3, appearing elsewhere in this issue of The Echo. A list of new prices is given and the announcement is made of the opening of a new meat market in connection with the store. A new refrigerator silent salesman has been installed, and the buyer can see the meat at all times without a change of temperature to injure its freshness. Read the ads. in The Echo and profit thereby.

W. E. Saucier, residing in Main street, is unusually successful this season with his tomato crop, which he grows every year on his dwelling premises. Large, solid and excellently flavored tomatoes are the result of his labors. These are sold at the home in retail lots, and families will be glad to avail themselves of the opportunity to make purchases, in small and retail lots, at their dwelling. A liberal sample sent The Echo fully proves all that can be said in favor of this delicious and health-giving vegetable. From their beauty and flavor we would rather call them fruit.

All is set for the Chicagoula entertainment this Saturday afternoon on the premises of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club by and for its benefit. The affair will begin at 4 o'clock this afternoon and come to a close at the hour of midnight. The Echo is of the belief the affair is going to be one of more than ordinary success. A general response comes from the public, is received, and every arrangement has worked out according to plan. Financial expectations are big and will be realized. We hope to chronicle the affair "big" next week, not forgetting net figures of the same size.

Edw. C. Fayard and wife have purchased the handsome South Front street dwelling, originally known as the Markey home and later that of the Bordelon family. The place was recently seriously damaged by fire, and Mr. Pettigrew, the owner, sold it to Mr. Fayard for a cash consideration of $9,700.00. Mr. Fayard has already given the contract for rebuilding of the roof destroyed by fire and is fitting it for his immediate occupancy, intending it as his future family home. Mr. and Mrs. Fayard will shortly leave for an extensive auto trip through Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard K. Nicholson motored over from New Orleans last week and are spending a few days visiting at the home of Mrs. Fairchild, on the beach front, and will motor back the next few days, preparatory to a trip to Asheville, N. C., where they will attend the Southern Publishers' Association convention.

The sum of $110.00 was realized by the A. & G. Theatre management on the evening of the 22nd inst., when the net proceeds of the evening's entertainment were turned over to the Bay St. Louis Fire Company, as their contribution to the debt fund. Two performances of the screen version of "The Midnight Alarm" were given to well-attended houses, all eager to contribute to the value of the fire ladders and testimonial of appreciation to the company of organized fire fighters.

Supervisor Jos. L. Favre has the material on the ground for a thorough remodeling and renovation of his dwelling in Main street, thus keeping in line with the march of improvements noted on that street of late.

The plan of remodeling includes an attractive new porch front, made of bright brick laid in black mortar joints and columns supporting the roof. Mr. Favre's home will be practically new and one of the attractive homes now dotting our city.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. G. Y. Blaize will learn with interest of the continued convalescence of Mrs. Blaize, who is at the King's Daughters' Hospital, at Gulfport, in order to hasten her permanent recovery. Mr. Blaize is a daily visitor to Gulfport.

Dr. J. T. Abshire, physician and surgeon at Kaplan, La., is spending a few days in Bay St. Louis, enjoying the Gulf breezes and sea water bathing. Dr. Abshire, who is vice president of the Louisiana State Board of Health, will leave for a few days for Baton Rouge to attend the session of the Legislature, after which he will return for the balance of the summer.

W. E. Saucier, residing in Main street, is unusually successful this season with his tomato crop, which he grows every year on his dwelling premises. Large, solid and excellently flavored tomatoes are the result of his labors. These are sold at the home in retail lots, and families will be glad to avail themselves of the opportunity to make purchases, in small and retail lots, at their dwelling. A liberal sample sent The Echo fully proves all that can be said in favor of this delicious and health-giving vegetable. From their beauty and flavor we would rather call them fruit.

THE RING.

Young Moran Mauls Cameron—Referee Stops Fight in Eighth—The Wallowing Wop Unloads Kid Cannon—Tuddy Smith K. O.'s Big Big Brooks—Young Mandot Beats "Tease" Carver To It.

Monday night, June 23rd, will long be remembered as the night when the fight fans of this burg saw the bloodiest ring battle of local history. Hardly ever a fight but there is some of the red flow in evidence, but last Monday's flow was in a class by itself; it appeared more like the flood gates had been left open and the stream had gone wild. Harry Cameron for a time looked as though he'd been dipped head first in carmine. Bleeding from the mouth, nose and ear, he presented a spectacle of a ferocious animal that was in to the death, one who was to stand and fight till the end.

The Kangaroo from the Kiln made many new friends last Monday when he showed his He-man courage in taking the fight to the Wallowing Wop. Most present-day fighters would not have gone one-half the distance before kissing the canvass in farewell.

Young Moran, of the Pass, and Harry Cameron, of Kiln, were scheduled to battle for eight rounds in the main bout of the Legion's Swatfest at Victory Airdome. The arena was packed with rabid fans, drawn forth by the reputations of the fighters; they came to see a HE scrap and were not disappointed a second when those lines, for from the tap of the said, the referee, raised Moran's hand, it was slugged; the battlers went at each other as though their very lives depended on it; after the second round they lost the human side and became two raging, yet crafty, mauls, bent on mauling each other.

Moran, with his usual set face, went in boring; he found a man who would not run from him, but one who met him half way. With his face unprotected, the Pass lad was caught in the mouth by Cameron's left; it split the lip, and Moran paying little heed to it, kept the pace. In the third round a wicked uppercut closed one of the Kangaroo's eyes; later a right hook found his cauliflower ear and the blood spurted; blow after blow the bad ear catching more than his share and bleeding profusely.

The fourth round was by far the bloodiest. Cameron was spurring the red from two or three places, and from Moran's mouth ran the same color. When they clinched, Harry saturated his opponent with his blood till it ran down his face. In the second round, toe to toe, they hammered it out. Moran's fierce uppercuts often landing with fearful force on Cameron's sore mouth, and his hooks finding a berth on the bustling Tiger's head, the Pass boy seemed to have a jaw of iron, and the weakened Kangaroo could not follow up.

The fifth frame found both men very tired, but, unlike most scrappers, they did not stall or play a waiting game; they crashed like mad bulls, determined to do or die. Both were ready to drop, but the telling force of a properly landed blow was missing. Thus it went on, this game of battles, till in the eighth round, when Referee McDonald separated them and raised the hand of Moran. Cameron stood still in the center of the ring, not being able to realize that he'd lost, even though his face had lost its semblance to humanity and seemed more raw beef, this game cock from the camp of the lumberjacks was looking for more and still unafraid. You must doff your lid to gameness.

We dare say that this is the first time that Young Moran has been made to extend himself in a local ring. In doing so he has shown the fans that he's everything they ask for in a fighter: a man who can hand out as stinging a wallop as the next and in turn take whatever his opponent sends over. Properly taken care of, groomed and trained, Moran will be heard of in the big time.

Barring the "Rabbit" punch took away from Cameron a valuable asset, one that he'd used in all of his fights, and often to telling advantage.

Loaicano Wins Over Cannon. In the semi-final, Young Loaicano, better known as the "Wallowing Wop," won a technical K. O. over Kid Cannon, of Fenton, Miss., when the Kid's seconds threw in the towel.

Cannon was far outclassed in being matched against such a rugged specimen as Loaicano. The Kid showed up as a very crude article, with absolutely no skill in offering a fight or protecting himself.

When the second round rang in, the Wop took his man's measure for a finishing touch, and was in trim to land the soaker when Cannon's seconds saved him by the towel route.

Birds For Brooks. The big smokes, Tuddy Smith and Big Brooks, two colored heavies, went in for a four-rounder in the second preliminary.

The first round had gone about three-quarters when Tuddy's left so dazed Brooks that he stood stock still with his arms limp. Smith then sent over a haymaker that put the dizzy Brooks to sleep for good. It required about ten minutes to revive him.

Carver had fought him to a draw a week previous, but the fancy stepping kid came back and fought rings around Tease this time. Carver merely acted the part of pivot in the center of the ring, while Mandot danced around him and sent in his jabs, winning all four rounds.

It was a subscription bout and the fans threw in near eight bucks to the youngsters.

VICTORY ARENA. Fight Card For Monday Next—All Star Cast—Three Six-Rounders.

The card selected for the next entertainment of fight fans at the Victory Arena, on Monday, June 30, is in keeping with the class that has been a telling factor in local sports since the inauguration of the Legion's boxing program.

Sargeant Capedon, the grand high Go-Get-Em of the ex-soldiers, says that this card is an all-star cast and should be a good drawing card. The program announces three six-rounders only, but it is understood that arrangement has been completed to put on a couple of good preliminaries, possibly a wrestling match for a change.

In the first go Louis Martin will meet the big sorrel top who scraps under the name of Big Red Cady, and as the latter is anxious for a few pointers and Louis is willing, there's no doubt that some fun will be had along these lines.

Loaicano, the "Wallowing Wop," will furnish some entertainment to a gent by the name of Jack Perry, who hails from the St. John Club, of New Orleans. The Wop says that these guys from the big burg are under the impression that there's little damage coming for a city guy from a Hickville scrapper, and it will be up to him to dish out a few so that the fore said club can be properly decorated on his return.

The St. John Club is generous; they're sending over two of their boys, Henry Thibault, comes over with the Perry lad and is to meet that young tomahawk from the Kiln, Young Peterson, in the last mill of the evening. The supporters of Thibault claim that their man is a scrapper from cover to cover and will show the lumberjack a few. He may, but
